He is In Jail.

Grazy Snake's Indian War Ends Behind the Prison Bars.

He Says the Great Spirit Will Insure Him Justice.

MANY INDIANS STILL IN HIDING.

Muskogee, I. T., Feb. 4.—Chitto Harjo or "Crazy Snake," the leader of the warring Creek Indians, and 17 of the minor leaders of that tribe, have been landed in the federal jail here, where they will be held pending trial for treason. The Indians were brought here from Henrietta under escort of Troop A. Eighth cavalry, and United States Marshal Bennett and his posse. It is stated that certain attorneys who it is asserted here misled the Indians may be prosecuted.

Marshal Bennett states that while most of the Indians are in hiding, some are still trying to hold meetings. A posse will be sent to arrest Chief Lottah Mekko, the real chief of the Creeks. When placed in prison here, Harjo and his followers were searched, fumigated, their shackles removed and all placed in one large cell. A newspaper correspondent with the assistance of an interpreter, had an interview with Crazy Snake, who said that he saw no reason for arrest and felt confident when the Indians were given a trial before the great white father's courts they would be released. He said they were acting in good faith and had papers from Washington that gave them the right to establish their old government. As to all the talk about killing whites, he said it was never their intention and they expected only to treat and act with their own people and in so doing expected finally to get all whites out. He also said that the "great spirit" would see that they got justice, even though their white father in Washington and the oil syndicates were trying to rob them of their once happy hunting ground.

A Presidential Succession Query.

A correspondent says he wishes to know who would be acting president of the United States if President McKinley and Vice President Roosevelt were to die immediately after inauguration. In that event the duties of the Presidential office would devolve temporarily on the present Secretary of State.

The correspondent is mistaken when he assumes that neither he nor any of the other Secretaries could act unless reappointed by the new President. The Secretaries, with the exception of the Postmaster General, are not appointed for fixed terms. Should President wish his present Cabinet officers to remain, and they are willing to do so, there is no need of reappointments and Senatorial confirmations. Therefore, if the President and Vice President were to die on March 4 Secretary Hay—if he did not die also—would become acting President and would, in obedience to law, convene Congress in extraordinary session. Congress doubtless would enact a law for a special election, and until it was held and a President and Vice President chosen, the Secretary of State would be at the head of the government. So, if Bryan and Stevenson had been elected and both were to die on March 4, President McKinley would go out, but Secretary Hay would remain in, and a Republican administration continue until a new election could be ordered, no doubt, even if one House were Republican. Public sentiment would demand a new election. Until it had been held Democratic office-seekers would have to possess their souls in patience.—Chicago Tribune.

Chicken thieves have again commenced making their raids on the henneries of the good housewives of Campbellsville, and many dozens of valuable hens have been stolen. While Campbellsville has some good and highly respected colored citizens, there are others who are not worth the powder it would take to blow them into hades. These trifling scoundrels will do but little or no work at all, and only subsist by robbing white people and their more fortunate colored brother. A whipping post would be a good place at which to punish such fellows.—Times Journal

The Assassination Cases.

Garnett Ripley, Captain of the illegally-organized Henry county military, which occupied so prominent part in the proceedings at Frankfort last winter, has been indicted, and is now in jail, charged with being accessory before the fact to the murder of Governor Goebel.

It is reported that governor Beckham will send a strong military force into the mountains after Berry and John Powers, both under indictment for the murder of Governor Goebel, both defying arrest.

It is believed that as soon as the requisition papers for Taylor and Finley are served upon the governor of Indiana and refused—as they surely will be—a big reward for the two fugitives will be offered by either governor Beckham, or the Goebel Reward Commission, or the Goebel brothers. It is thought that a reward of $5,000 or $10,000, will smoke the accused murderers out.

The Youtsey case will be called at Georgetown to-day.

He will be sentenced to serve his life time in the penitentiary.

It is said that a number of indictments for murder in connection with the assassination of governor Goebel were returned by the Franklin grand jury last week, but are kept secret until the accused shall have been arrested.

Developments of a sensational nature may be expected.—Glasgow Times.

Marked Men.

Has it come to the point that every public official who does his duty against the trusts and corporations is a marked man?

Attorney General Monnett, of Ohio, instituted suits against the Standard oil company and the Continental tobacco trust. He refused a bribe of $100,000, prosecuted the suits vigorously, was beaten out of his boots in the Republican state convention for renomination and a corporation man elected in his place. Last week Monnett's successor dismissed every action against the trusts.

Out west, Nebraska is following the Ohio example. Attorney General Smythe instituted many suits against trusts conducting their affairs illegally and it is announced that his Republican successor will dismiss them all.

Mr. Bryan was beaten for president by the trusts and money-powers. From the presidency down, the trail of the golden serpent is over them all.—Glasgow Times.

Michael Fanning was fatally shot in New Orleans by his son who thought him a burglar.

Scared Out.

Threats to Tar and Feather Mrs. Nation Alarm Her.

Programme at Topeka Stopped by an Ugly Rumor.

CARRIE NATION'S ARMY STARTED

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 4.—Policeman Luster has reported to City Marshal Stahl a plot on the part of the liquor men to tar and feather Mrs. Carrie Nation, the "juke smasher." Luster says that a negro tough whom he once befriended gave him the tip. Marshal Stahl is making an investigation. The report has frightened Mrs. Nation and her sister crusaders, but they declare that they will continue the work of destroying "murder shops."

They met at 9 o'clock Sunday morning at Mrs. Nation's room and held a session of prayer, asking the Lord to protect them from bodily harm in the discharge of what they termed their duty to the community. Mrs. Nation braved the storm and spoke at the Wesleyan church in the forenoon, and at the Lowman Hill Methodist church in the evening.

A recruiting office for the Topeka brigade, Kansas division, "Carrie Nation's army," has been opened. About 300 "soldiers" have signed the roll, mostly women. The program of the defenders is to march down Kansas avenue late in the afternoon with drums beating and flags flying, and hold prayer meetings in front of every joint. Mrs. Nation says that it was the intention of the home defenders to smash joints today, but this feature of the crusade was postponed for a day to enable the secret service agents to inquire into the story that armed men are guarding the joints. Mrs. Nation says she does not mind a shotgun, but she does not want to lead other women to their death. Postmaster Guthrie says that Mrs. Nation receives more mail than any bank in Topeka. Many of the letters contain money, and it is said that Mrs. Nation has already put aside $500 to help carry on the liquor war here.

A delightful social was given at the residence of J. P. Willis Friday night. Those from a distance who attended were Misses Ida Reynolds, Pearl Neat, Vester; Effie Montgomery, Annie Reynolds, Mollie Jeffries, Craycraft.

The Register reports a disagreeable day and dull court at Richmond Monday. Not more than 50 horses and the same number of mules changed hands; some good mules brought $125 which was a top figure. Horses sold at from $40 to $80 and were a drag; about 1,500 cattle were on the market at the pens and less than one third the number found purchasers at prices ranging from 3c to 5c.

Telephoned to Heaven

Warren, Ill., Jan. 24.—Agnes Louise Davis, the four-year-old daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Cass Davis, who is famous because of her method of saying her prayers by telephone, sent in her last call today. The little one when ready to say her prayers would go to the 'phone and call: "Hi ho, central, give me heaven. I want to say my prayers."

She seemed in perfect health, but just at the time today her prayers the Lord called her and her little life went out almost without warning and she has gone to say her prayers to the Lord in person.

Four days ago she predicted that she would go to heaven the first of any of the family, and her prediction came true. She was intelligent beyond her years, beautiful in person and disposition, greatly beloved by the entire community.

She was always ready and anxious to talk to heaven and wanted to say her prayers direct to God, and often wondered why God did not answer her 'phone message; if He didn't hear, or if He couldn't see her from the skies. Her last 'phone message was answered, and in the twinkling of an eye she took her place at the other end of the line, where she could see and understand how God answered telephone messages.

Sympathy and Love.

A traveler was taken ill in a foreign land. It was feared that his disease was contagious and he was neglected and forsaken. A Sister of Mercy found him, cooled his aching head, and breathed words of hope into his ear. She spoke of duty, of hope, of trust, and of his ability to do for others. He recovered his health and strength, and became a blessing to his race, under the inspiration of this kindly woman's influence. Thus sympathy is shown to be the healer of disease, and the prompter to action for the good of others.

A boy was being taken from the city by an aid society, to a home in the West. At the rendezvous he was seen to grasp something closely in his hand. He was asked to show what he was concealing. On opening his fingers a piece of calico was seen which the agent was about to throw away. Don't take it away; it is all I have to remember my mother; it is part of an old calico cap she made for me before she died; I want it to remember her by in my new home." It was given back, and the boy carried it with him and it became an amulet to the boy and man. This manifested through a material thing proved to be a helper to make a better boy and man.

A Parable.

Behold an advertiser went forth to sow. And when he sowed, some seed fell into handbills and dodgers, and the street cleaner came and gathered them up.

Some fell among concert and theater programs, and the people being interested in the performance and not in bargains, they were left on the seats or crumpled and thrown on the floor.

Some fell among fake schemes and gift enterprises, and popular contempt sprang up and choked them.

But some fell into legitimate newspapers, which found their way into the homes of the people who had time to read them, and they brought forth fruit, some an hundred fold, some sixty fold, thirty fold.

Who hath ears to hear let him hear.

There are now sixteen prisoners in solitary confinement in the Massachusetts state prison at Charlestown, the most dangerous of the lot being Jesse Pomeroy, "the boy murderer." He is constantly laying plans to escape and keeps the guards ever on the alert to thwart them. He once pulled down the ventilator over his cell door and made a saw of the portion of the material. Then the place was walled up and fresh air introduced into his cell in other ways. He has now been imprisoned on a life sentence twenty-seven years.

This is reported to be a very fine quality of moonshine and it is said the trade has been rushing Mr. Blair for this product like hungry cats for the after straw.—Lebanon Enterprise.
